

A scatter plot on a 10x10 grid. The grid lines are light gray. There are 40 data points, each represented by a small circle with a black outline and a white fill. The points are distributed across the grid, with a higher density in the center and fewer points near the corners. The points are scattered in a way that suggests a random distribution, but with a slight concentration in the central area.